Chief Warns Auto Drivers to Keep Out of Way of Firemen

FIRE CHIEF L. G. Martin does not want for anybody to think he's being cantankerous, but—

He wishes to point out that the state law says that all motor vehicles must remain out of a block where there is a fire.

It also says that a car must remain 500 feet behind any fire apparatus travelling to a fire.

Fire personnel excepted, of course

Martin has been having his difficulties with automobiles driving up in the block of a fire. There was even trouble Saturday at a grass fire in Dorrisville. Things jammed up so bad there, Martin said, that a number of cars had to be moved before the fire truck could get out of a driveway.

If it had been a bad fire, this situation could have been hazardous, he pointed out. If it had been necessary to move the truck to another spot in a hurry, it would have taken a lot of time.

Also, this jamming and following fire apparatus too closely hinders the volunteer firemen en route to the blaze. These firemen have blue lights on their cars and when these blue lights are blinking, the vehicles should be given the right-of-way.

Martin emphasized the law and hoped the police would not have to give out any tickets for these violations.

Martin also brought up another item regarding fires. He said that the city is not liable for compensation for the work anybody does at a fire or for any injury that might occur, unless the person is a regular volunteer fireman or some person the chief has told to go to work at the scene of the fire.

Cost of Living Equals Record Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living climbed four tenths of 1 per cent last month to equal the previous record level set in 1953.

Government officials said the cost of living may set new records this summer.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index rose four tenths of 1 per cent between April and May to reach 115.4 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is equal to the peak level reached in October, 1953.

The BLS said that a sharp rise in food prices was primarily responsible for the jump in the whole index. The month-to-month increase in the average was the largest in three years.

Torrential Rains, Blinding Dust Hit Southwest

By United Press

The weather served up a weird mixture of torrential rains and blinding dust in the drought-parched South today.

A cold front slammed through the area, where a heat wave has sent temperatures towards the 100-degree mark for 2 1/2 weeks. The results included winds up to 55 miles per hour, up to 2 inches of rain, and at least one tornado to the north.

The winds clawed at topsoil in the Syracuse, Kan., area, near the Colorado border and sent up dust clouds which cut visibility to zero Monday night.

In contrast, heavy rains swept farmlands which are suffering a marathon drought. Imperial, Neb., got 2 inches of rain in six hours and more thunderstorms were predicted today from the east slopes of the Rockies through most of the Southwest and on to the upper Great Lakes.

The rains set off flash floods in the Marshall, Mo., area, where several streams were out of their banks. There were more flood dangers in Indiana, where the lower White river was expected to crest at Ellettsville 2 or 3 feet above flood level and the Wabash was ready to go over its banks at Montezuma and Terre Haute.

To the north, a tornado hit the Ivanhoe, Minn., area Monday night. Several farm buildings and many trees were leveled, but no deaths or injuries were reported.

Begin Murder Trial of Polio-Crippled Mother

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Naomi Larimer, 33, a polio-crippled mother, went on trial today for the May 13 shooting of her husband, which the state called "premeditated with malice aforethought."

Nobel Larimer, also 33, was killed at his home here with a shotgun blast after Mrs. Larimer said he returned home from a "drinking spree."

Effingham County State's Atty. Maurice Rickelman, in opening remarks to the jury of 9 men and 3 women, charged that the shooting was "premeditated with malice aforethought."

Mrs. Larimer, who told police her husband had severely beaten her on previous occasions, hobbled into the circuit courtroom with the aid of two canes. She is the mother of two children, 22 months and 3 years old.

First witness was a neighbor, Howard Dale, who said Mrs. Larimer got him out of bed on the night of the shooting to call a doctor. He said he summoned an ambulance and called police.

Larimer was dead on arrival at a local hospital.

UN Council Rejects Russian Move to Postpone Algerian Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Russia failed today to gain a new postponement of the United Nations Security Council's debate on whether to consider the Algerian question.

The council, by a 7-1 vote with 3 abstentions, decided that it would not accede to Russia's request for indefinite postponement of the Algerian question and that it would proceed as quickly as possible to a showdown debate on whether the issue should be debated in the UN's highest peace organ.

Probers Demand White House Disclose 'Leak'

Seek Person Who Gave Writer Access To Secret Files

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators demanded today that the White House disclose who gave a writer access to secret records of cabinet meetings which had been denied to Congress.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate investigating subcommittee made the demand after White House Cabinet Secretary Maxwell M. Rabb ducked an invitation to testify.

Rabb sent a letter saying he knew nothing of how the White House files were given to Robert J. Donovan, White House reporter for the New York Herald Tribune, for use in a forthcoming book on the Eisenhower administration, "The Inside Story." Therefore he "respectfully declined" an invitation to testify.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Rabb's attitude was "completely and inexcusably arrogant." He urged the subcommittee to subpoena Rabb. He said the Senate itself could punish Rabb—without referring the case to the Justice Department—if he failed to show up.

McCarthy also asked the subcommittee to invite Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. to explain a passage in the book which quotes Brownell as saying McCarthy instructed the staff of the general accounting office not to give the FBI information on "questionable activities of a clothing manufacturer."

McCarthy said if Brownell is quoted correctly, the attorney general made a "deliberate misstatement" and it was "one of the most scurrilous statements against a senator I have read for some time."

McClellan ordered the staff to write Brownell and ask about this. McCarthy also issued a personal demand that Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams confirm or deny a statement that he suggested that the Army prepare a report on activities of McCarthy and his aides in 1953-54. This report set off the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Admiral King Will Be Buried Friday In Naval Academy Cemetery at Annapolis

KITTERY, Me. (AP)—The body of Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King today makes the melancholy journey back to his beloved Annapolis.

King, who led the largest and hardest hitting fleet the world has ever seen died Monday at the Portsmouth Naval hospital. He was 77.

The Navy announced in Washington that funeral services will be held in the Washington National Cathedral Friday with burial at the Naval Academy Cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

The body of the former U. S. Fleet commander in chief was scheduled to be flown to the capital today and was to be met by representatives of the military services, the diplomatic corps and members of his family.

Capital Funeral Procession

After a brief ceremony with the U. S. Navy Band participating, the casket was to be carried past a Navy honor guard to a hearse and taken to a nearby funeral home at Bethesda, Md.

The body will be moved to the National Cathedral Wednesday where it will lie in state with a 24-hour honor guard.

After the funeral services, King's body will be borne by caisson down historic Constitution Avenue to the front of the Capitol. Then it will be taken to Annapolis, Md., for burial.

The admiral was stricken with a heart seizure Sunday. He rallied briefly a few hours later and then fell into a coma. At his bedside when he died was his son, Lt. Com. Ernest J. King Jr., who flew here from Washington.

President Eisenhower mourned the death of his "old friend," the tall, tough boss of America's greatest navy. Mr. Eisenhower said King had carried out his war responsibilities "with courage, brilliance and continued devotion to duty."

Jap Scientists Report New H-Bomb Blast by U. S.; Rival to Soviet Test

TOKYO (AP)—The United States exploded another hydrogen bomb today, Japanese scientists reported. They called it part of a series of rival tests being carried out simultaneously with the Soviet Union.

The U. S. explosion was detected by the Central Meteorological Observatory here with recorded "unusual atmospheric shocks." It said the hydrogen bomb probably was exploded in the Bikini area, scene of other H-bomb tests.

The Russian hydrogen bomb blast was reported to have occurred June 19 or 20. Dr. Hironobu Watanabe of Niigata University said he detected the explosion thru radioactivity tests made on "hot" rain which fell in Niigata. Niigata is on the coast facing Siberia.

AEC Refuses Comment

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in Washington refused to comment on the reports but a spokesman pointed out that the AEC announced in April there would be at least ten shots in the current series of tests.

"We are not commenting on specific reports of the progress of the series of tests out there," the AEC spokesman said.

Japanese scientists reported on May 21 and 28 that the United States had exploded a hydrogen bomb. The May 21 test was announced by the United States but Washington officials would not comment on the May 28 shot.

Last 40 Minutes

The scientists say such an explosion would have taken place at Bikini about three hours before the shock waves reached Tokyo at 6:20 a. m. (5:20 p. m. EDT Monday). The shocks occurred at intervals of two to three minutes for more than 40 minutes after the first wave.

Similar shocks also were recorded at other Japanese observatories. Watanabe, in reporting on the Soviet series, said rain water tested in Niigata showed 5,890 Geiger counter clicks per minute. After comparing weather conditions and rain carried in from the direction of the American testing ground he concluded the "hot rain" could only have come from Siberia.

Russian tests are carried out in secrecy and no warnings are issued to prevent damage in surrounding area. The United States gives the general date of a series of tests and sets out a dangerous area.

Defense Spending: The administration made an 11th-hour attempt to head off a Democratic drive to add $1,100,000,000 to the Air Force budget. Republican leaders were urged by administration spokesmen at a White House legislative conference to hold the line in the showdown late today.

Missiles: The Senate Armed Services committee blocked Air Force attempts to set up its own anti-aircraft guided missile system in competition with the Army. It rejected an Air Force request for authority to build four Talos anti-aircraft bases costing $16,250,000 and gave the Army a go-ahead to expand its Nike guided missile system.

Family Night Picnic Enjoyed By Rotary Club

The Rotary club met Monday night at Fred Russler's cabin. As this was family night, approximately 90 persons were present at the picnic on the grounds.

Following the picnic, a business session was held. William Hopkins, president for the past year, paid tribute to the various chairmen of the club, who helped to make this a successful year and he introduced Lowden Pankey, president for the coming year. Presentation of a diamond pin to Mr. Hopkins for being president for the past year was made by the Rev. Joe Morman. New members, who joined this year, were asked to stand and introduce themselves and their wives.

At the close of the meeting members and their wives having anniversaries during this month were honored with a large cake with their names on it.

Bill Goes to Senate; Expect Early Approval

'User' Taxes to Pay For Program Are Also Voted

By United Press

The House voted today to authorize a record $32,900,000 construction program and to boost "user" taxes to help pay for it.

The compromise bill, passed by voice vote and without dissent, was sent to the Senate where early approval also was expected.

The measure would authorize the biggest building program in history—construction of 41,000 miles of interstate super highways that by 1969 would link most state capitals and other major cities from coast to coast. The total cost of this system would be 27 1/2 billion dollars, with the federal government paying $24,900,000,000 and the states $2,700,000,000.

The remaining $5,400,000,000 would be spent on primary and secondary highways and on roads on federal land.

To help foot the bill, the federal tax on gasoline would be increased by a penny a gallon and tire and truck taxes also would be raised. All of the tax increases would go into effect next Sunday.

Applause for Seaton

In the judgment of the U. S. Senate and a good many others, Fred Seaton of Nebraska will make a good Secretary of the Interior. Perhaps the best tribute to him is that from certain Democrats who were highly critical of his predecessor, Douglas McKay of Oregon. At the risk of depriving themselves of political ammunition, these men let it be known they view Seaton as a wise choice for the post.

Since the day he first plunged into politics as an appointed senator to fill a Nebraska vacancy, Seaton has moved upward in Washington's estimation.

He comes to Interior from a substantial period of service on President Eisenhower's White House staff, where he functioned in the touchy realm of administration relations with Congress.

The broad acceptance of him in his new job is one measure of how well he handled that assignment.

The hot currents of the public vs. private power issue swirl about the Interior Department and seem sure to embroil Seaton. Yet he acts like the kind of a man who just might ride them out safely.

Certainly his appointment has blunted the issue. And it may also turn out that voters generally, or even regionally, are not nearly so concerned with it today as contestants in this field appear to imagine.

"Well, Whatta You Know!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON says: TV Sets Can Give Off Harmful Radiation; Charley Wilson Fots Feet In Mouth Again; Republican Senators Suffer At Home By Supporting Ike's Foreign Policy.

WASHINGTON.—It wasn't mentioned in the Atomic Energy Commission's report on radiation, but common TV sets may give off harmful radiation. This has been acknowledged, but not advertised, inside the television industry.

Black-and-white picture tubes produce a "soft" x-ray radiation through the face plate. "Soft" rays are the worst kind, because they are absorbed by the body. However, they dissipate readily and are not dangerous except at close range. Experts claim that three feet is a safe distance to watch TV without risk of harmful radiation.

The larger the TV set, of course, the greater the danger. Radio Corporation of America has issued a handbook for TV repairmen, warning: "X-ray radiation is produced by the 11-inch tube when it is operated at its normal value. The radiation is through the faceplate and is sufficient to require the adoption of safety measures in TV receivers. Shielding such as that provided by a 1-4 inch thickness of safety glass in front of the faceplate should prove adequate to provide protection against personal injury from prolonged exposure at close range."

"When this tube is being serviced outside the TV receiver cabinet," the RCA handbook warns, "it should never be operated without requiring adequate x-ray shielding in front of the faceplate."

Large-screen projection tubes, such as used in theatres to show TV fights, can give off dangerous amounts of radiation. The audience is usually protected, however, by lead plates or other barriers.

A large dose of x-ray radiation, absorbed by the body over a long period, can produce such harmful effects as cataracts on the eyes, malignant tumors, and even leukemia. Ordinary commercial TV receivers aren't likely to cause any of these dreaded results, though they may add to the body's x-ray intake.

Main danger to the average TV viewer would come from a set in need of repair. As a precaution, children should also be kept from sitting too close to the TV set.

Note—At many TV plants, employees carry Geiger-type meters to measure the radiation and warn them of over exposure.

"BIRD DOG" WILSON

Secretary of Defense Wilson whose ability to say the wrong thing at the wrong time is well known, attended a ceremony on Capitol Hill the other day, honoring Congressman Dewey Short, Missouri Republican.

At one point, Wilson started naming his predecessors as secretary of defense. He mentioned Secretary James Forrestal and Secretary George Marshall, then couldn't remember the rest.

"Oh well," he said. "They were Democrats anyhow."

Speaker Sam Rayburn, who is Mr. Democrat on Capitol Hill, and Carl Vinson, the Georgia Democrat who has considerable veto power over Wilson as chairman of the House Armed Services committee, said nothing. They didn't have to. The manner in which they looked at Wilson was enough.

WHY IKE LOSES VOTES

Loyal Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin is not the only Senate Republican being threatened with a purge because he's supporting Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Equally loyal Senator George Bender of Ohio has been threatened with the same fate. Bender already has the GOP nomination, and unlike Wiley doesn't have to battle for the party's nomination. But Bender's fellow Republican, Senator John Bricker, is so furious with Bender for his support of the Eisenhower foreign policy that he appears about ready to give secret, perhaps even open, support to Bender's opponent, Gov. Frank Lausche.

Bricker is scarcely speaking to Bender. The other day when Bender made a strong statement supporting Ike's position on restoring the cut in the foreign aid budget, newsmen sought out Jim Meekstroth, Bricker's press secretary, and asked if Bricker would comment on it.

"We don't dare tell the old man" Meekstroth confided. "He'll blow his stack and we'll be all afternoon calming him down."

Lausche, aware of the growing division in the Ohio GOP, is coyly playing along with it by getting more conservative in every speech. The governor is already so conservative he's alienated nearly all the Democratic organization support he ever enjoyed. He figures, however, that Bricker and such influential papers as the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Columbus Dispatch will swing him as many GOP votes as he got in 1952 when he moved down Charley Taft by 571,000 votes while Ike was carrying Ohio by 496,000.

If Eisenhower wonders why he finds it so difficult to get votes from Republican senators, the retribution being threatened against Bender as well as Wiley, two of his staunchest supporters, might enlighten him.

MCCARTHY'S TERMINAL FACILITIES

Senator Joe McCarthy isn't making headlines anymore, though he still attends Senate committee meetings and still makes speeches of sorts.

The other day he was listening to the testimony of ex-Communist Dr. Bella Dodd before the Senate Internal Security committee. At the close of the hearing, acting Chairman Jenner of Indiana profusely thanked her for her testimony, then added:

"If there is nothing more, the committee will stand adjourned." Senator McCarthy interrupted: "Mr. Chairman," he said, "could I impose on the hospitality of the chairman?"

"I want to say," he continued, "that I very greatly appreciate the opportunity of sitting in on this hearing, and I would like to make the comment that this committee is doing, I think, a greater service to America than any other committee on the hill, either House or Senate, and I think the chief counsel, Judge Morris, should be complimented for the painstaking work he has done; and then if I may impose on you further I would like to say that I would like to compliment Dr. Dodd for the courage which she has in coming forward—she would not have to do that; she is going to subject herself to a great deal of abuse, and I think it is a wonderful thing that this committee can get the witnesses who will subject themselves to the type of abuse they are subjected to when they come forward to testify."

McCarthy droned on and on, apparently unable to stop. He couldn't seem to come to the end of a sentence.

Finally Chairman Jenner ended it for him.

"Period," he said, banged his gavel, and adjourned the meeting.

Operation Alert In July Will Test Illinois Defense

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois next month will once again test its readiness to cope with the emergencies that would spring up in an atomic bomb attack.

"Operation Alert, 1956," for Illinois will be part of a nationwide exercise testing federal, state and local preparedness against enemy attack July 20-26.

The six-day test centers around the assumption that the continental United States is under nuclear attack.

Four hypothetical bombs will fall on Illinois—two of them in the Chicago area. In addition, Civil Defense authorities are planning to combat simulated sabotage and germ warfare.

Illinois Civil Defense Director General Robert Woodward said "We intend to give our Civil Defense organizations real problems. "We now have more than 350,000 Illinois volunteers and we're attempting to create a defense corps that's both flexible and alert," Woodward said.

Chicago's two make-believe bombs will be of the five-megaton nuclear type. That means each bomb will have more potential destructive power than the combined total of all explosives dropped by both United States and British air forces during World War II.

Two smaller bombs—equivalent to only 100,000 tons of TNT—will fall on the Springfield and Davenport-Rock Island-Moline areas.

"Operation Alert's" basic planning assumes President Eisenhower will proclaim a national emergency at 8:50 CST July 20.

Ten minutes later a warning siren will pierce through Chicago, and 3 hours and 45 minutes later—the bombs will fall.

Approximately three hours will lie between the first warning and the actual bombing. During this lull, state Civil Defense authorities plan to busy themselves co-ordinating evacuation, distributing medical and food supplies to key depots and combating hypothetical sabotage.

Immediately following the make-believe blast, Civil Defense workers will shift their attention to unsmoothing traffic, caring for refugees, and repairing supposedly damaged public works such as water mains and electric lines.

The key to the entire program seems to live in Conelrad—an emergency communications system already established by the government. To form Conelrad, two clear channels have been set up. They are at 640 and 1240 on a normal radio dial. As soon as the alert is sounded, all government messages will be shifted to these two channels.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. Written for NEA Service

EVERY now and then a police patrol car hides from oncoming traffic. When a violator speeds past, or when he breaks some other law of the highways, the policeman comes out of hiding and takes off after the offender.

Many of us criticize the "cop" for his "sneaky" action or his unfair methods of catching people. On the other hand, many of the loudest critics are people who try to sneak through stop signals or attempt to "get away" with what they call "minor violations."

Some even go so far as to compound their errors by offering to bribe the policeman, or by threatening political pressure or economic insecurity for the deputy of the law. Who is most unfair with the public—the policeman who "sneaks" from hiding or the traffic violator who tries to get away with his "minor" law-breaking?

No one likes a "sneak," but neither do we like to see people put other folk in danger. We ought to watch ourselves, to see that we follow the established codes of law, and that we do not try to hide our waywardness with crooked thinking.

Let us be thankful that God is not hiding behind bushes to jump on us and punish us for our errors. But let us not expect God to overlook our deliberate sins against Him and against the human children of God.

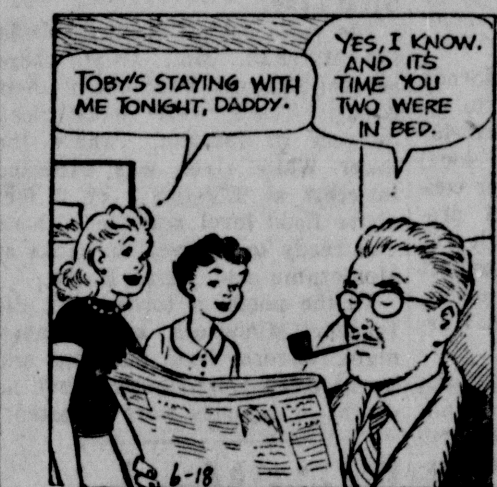

Do not pray for "justice" alone but rather for "forgiveness." Justice alone may satisfy our desire to see people receive appropriate punishment, but it does not satisfy God's will to save people for worth-while living.

The bride wore an aqua taffeta dress with a long waist line and full circular skirt, with a pink flowered cloche, and her bridal flowers were pink carnations, carried with a small white Testament.

Twining Visits Russian Jet Engine Academy

MOSCOW (U. S. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen Nathan Twining today saw Russian scientists test jet engines and teach the students who will design new warplanes.

He called it the "best day I've had so far" on his tour of Soviet air installations.

Twining and aviation experts from 28 other countries visited the Zhukovsky air engineering academy and saw jet engines, both in their final state and in cutaway sections. They also saw detailed work being done in engine fatigue tests and on aerodynamics problems.

It appeared to newsmen that the visiting airmen were receiving considerable information about Russia's massive air might both in their inspection tours and in informal conversations with Soviet air officials.

The visitors were told that all students at the academy are military officers. Among other things, the academy gives a five-year course in aeronautical engineering.

Twining said afterward that this was "the best day I've had so far" on the tour which began last Saturday. He made no other immediate comment.

The group may get another look today at the latest Soviet jet planes, but the schedule of events during the day was easier, including a visit to a soccer match and possibly to the ballet tonight.

Merriam Says He Will Return to Chicago Politics

CHICAGO (U. S. Robert E. Merriam, the 1935 GOP mayoral candidate, said today he intends to get back into the rigors of Chicago's political wars someday.

However, his plans for the future were made quite plain.

"Chicago was and is my home, and I don't think it is any secret that I will come back," Merriam said in a personal newsletter which preceded his arrival here for tonight's $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner for Benjamin S. Adamowski.

Adamowski, a recently converted Democrat who now has emerged as the head of the Republican county slate as the nominee for state's attorney, will be the only speaker at the dinner to be held in the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Spinster is Sentenced for Embezzlement

NORFOLK, Va. (U. S. Minnie Mangum, who learned how to do good things for people while teaching a Sunday School class, was sentenced to 20 years in prison Monday for embezzling almost three million dollars so she could help friends and relatives.

Miss Mangum was working as head bookkeeper for a building and loan association when an argument she was having with an employee raised the suspicions of an examiner.

Corporation Court Judge H. Lawrence Bullock read the sentence which included 10 years each on two indictments to run consecutively and 2 years each on 11 other indictments to run concurrently with the longer sentence.

Court observers indicated this procedure would affect Miss Mangum's chances for parole, but that she will be eligible for parole after serving five years.

Miss Minnie stood grim-faced in the crowded courtroom to hear the sentence read.

The plump, 52-year-old spinster pleaded guilty to 22 charges of embezzling. She was sentenced in the same courtroom where she admitted the fantastic juggling of the books of Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. over nearly a score of years to cover up for much of the shortages which amounted to more than $2,844,000.

Mickey Mantle Collects Four Hits as Yanks Beat A's, 9-3; Braves Win 11th Straight

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

The middle letters in his name spell K-E-Y-M-A-N and make no mistake about it. Mickey Mantle is just that in the New York Yankee pennant picture right now.

Never was his value more clearly demonstrated than Monday night when he collected four hits in a 9-3 victory over the Athletics at Kansas City that put the Yankees a game and a half ahead of the idle, pesky Chicago White Sox.

Mantle hit no homers, even though the Yankees collected four, two by rookie Norm Siebern and one each by Hank Bauer and Joe Collins. He remained 14 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace of 60 homers for 1927 with a total of 27, but that right now is immaterial.

What Mantle did was to upset the entire Kansas City lineup, pitchers, fielders, hitters. In the first inning he tripled to drive in a run.

A's Shift Felled

In the third inning, when the Athletics were stacked heavily around the right side of the diamond, Mantle felled the shift by bunting safely down third. In the fifth he again capitalized on the maneuvers by beating out a hit to the man in short center field.

a ball normally handled by the shortstop. In the sixth he got a normal single when the shift was not on. It is used only when Mantle bats lefty.

Beyond the significance of Mantle's four hits was the victory. In Chicago Mantle was stopped with four scattered hits for four games and the Yankees lost all of them. Time and again it has developed that the Yankees lose when Mantle is stopped. That isn't too often.

In the National league, the bumptious Braves who may have established a pact with their new Manager Fred Haney, never to lose another game, won their 11th in a row since he took over, 8-5 against the Phillies and they had to offset a three run eighth inning homer by Willie Jones to do it.

In the ninth a squeeze bunt by Del Crandall brought in one run, a sacrifice fly by Hank Aaron delivered another and a single by Bobby Thomson completed the conquest. It was the longest streak for Milwaukee since it came into the league and significantly—perhaps—all of the wins have been on the road.

Pirates Lose Another

Cincinnati stayed two games back in second place with a 2-1 victory over the skidding Pirates. Ted Kluszewski hit his 14th homer in the seventh and Ray Jablonski delivered another run on a sacrifice fly as the Reds came from behind to gain the triumph on Art Fowler's five-hitter.

Brooklyn's "displaced persons," the Dodgers, who have distressed their home fans with recent ineptness, went to their Jersey City haven and scored a 3-2 victory over the Cubs, coming from behind with two runs in the eighth on an error, Junior Gilliam's triple and a scoring fly by PeeWee Reese. It was Carl Erskine's first victory since his no-hitter over the Giants on May 12.

In the only other American league game, the Senators defeated the Tigers at Detroit, 5-3 when Clint Courtney hit a two-run homer in the eighth. Billy Hoeltz had struck out 10 and blanked Washington until the seventh when he tired.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Mayor Daley Urges Series in Soldier Field

CHICAGO — If the vagaries of baseball don't blast Mayor Richard Daley's plans to hold the World Series in sprawling Soldier Field, the traffic problem certainly will, park district officials said today.

Daley, a Chicago White Sox rooter since childhood, was so elated with the Sox' sweep of their four-game weekend series with the New York Yankees that he called a news conference Monday to suggest Soldier Field as the site for the World Series.

He reminded reporters that he had predicted the Sox would take all four games from the league leading Yankees, and advised the newsmen to "get ready to cover" the Sox in the series.

Daley opined that the 120,000 fans capable of squeezing into municipally owned Soldier Field would make a nice crowd.

Eldorado Merchants Lose To Carterville; Play at Uniontown, Ky., Sunday

The Eldorado Merchants, defeated 6 to 5 at Carterville Sunday, travel to Uniontown, Ky., next Sunday for a baseball game.

At Carterville, Irvin and Sandusky pitched for Eldorado with Hassett behind the plate. Long and Noakes pitched for Carterville with Farley the receiver. Eldorado outlasted Carterville, 11 to 8.

The Merchants were led at bat by Hassett, Cooley, Irvin and Sandusky, who had two hits each.

No Rabbit Ball, National League Officials Claim

CINCINNATI, Ohio — National League officials, a bit annoyed by all this talk about a "rabbit ball," rallied to the horsehide's defense today and declared that beeper players are the real reason for this year's home run rampage.

"There has been no change in the baseball for a great number of years," League officials insisted.

If you don't believe it, the NL invites you to check with A. G. Spalding Co., which makes the ball, or the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia, which last week conducted tests purporting to show the 1956 baseball has no more pep than the '55 model.

If the ball hasn't changed, the players have—and the league insists that there is the answer to homer hitting. The players are simply bigger and stronger than they used to be and more of them are capable of hitting homers.

Romonosky Holds 5-3 Record at Allentown

The latest averages from the Class A Eastern league shows Harrisburg's John Romonosky has a pitching record of five victories and three losses. Romonosky hurls for Allentown, Pa., currently leading the Eastern league.

The records, including games of June 20, show Romonosky has appeared in 13 games, pitched 93 innings, recorded 60 strikeouts and has an earned run average of 2.42. This is the fourth best ERA in the league.

Beasley, Pulliam and Thaxton had one hit a piece.

Cubs, Sugar Creek, Social Brethren Teams Win Kiwanis League Games

By David Nelson
The Cubs beat the Reds, 20-11, Sugar Creek downed Raleigh, 16-4, and Social Brethren edged the Braves, 11-9, in Kiwanis baseball games Monday.

The Cubs scored one run in the first inning, seven in the second, three in the third, two in the fourth, three in the fifth, and four in the sixth, on 10 hits as they beat the Reds, 20-11. The losers scored six in the first, one in the fourth, and four in the sixth, on nine safe blows.

For the winners at bat Riegel, Lambert and Betz had two hits, and Hefner, Taylor, Crabb and Brown picked up one safety apiece. Hefner, Lambert and Betz pitched for the Cubs, and Pool and Hansen were on the hill for the Reds.

Sugar Creek ran its winning streak to five games by downing Raleigh, 16-4. The winners sewed up the game in the third frame when they tallied seven times. The losers scored all four runs in the fifth.

Cushist, Shelton and Hopkins had two hits for Sugar Creek and safe blows by Stanley, Wilson, Karnes, Wiley, Fields and Stille rounded out their 11-hit attack. Farmer singled twice and Harris, Taylor and Ramsey had base hits for Raleigh. Karnes was the winning pitcher and Taylor took the loss.

There was a total of 20 free passes in a walking contest between Social Brethren and the Braves, with Social Brethren winning the game, 11-9. The winners scored three runs each in the first, third and fourth innings, one in the fifth and one in the sixth. The losers racked up one in the second, three in the third, two in the fourth and three in the fifth.

The Harrisburg Teen-Age All-Stars, managed by Gilbert Maynard and Raymond Pickford, will be seeking their fourth win of the season Wednesday night at 8 o'clock when they tackle the Norris City American Legion junior team here on the VFW diamond near the fairgrounds.

Local fans were delighted with the game last Wednesday night when Harrisburg was barely edged out by Eldorado, and this game promises to be another thriller.

Jerry King will hurl for the teen-agers and Ray Hassett will do the catching.

In a preliminary at 6 p. m. the local Kitty league all-stars will play a team from Norris City. Karnes will pitch for Harrisburg, and Shelton or Potter will do the receiving.

Hell's Canyon Dam Approved By House Group

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Interior Committee today approved a bill to authorize federal construction of a 350-million-dollar dam in Hell's Canyon on the Idaho-Oregon border.

The roll call vote was 15-13. With two exceptions, it was along party lines.

The controversial dam would be located on the Snake River on the Idaho-Oregon border.

A similar bill was approved by the Senate Interior Committee last week and Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said it will be brought up for full Senate action in a week or two.

The House committee action was taken without debate. Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.) called for approval of the bill.

It was the committee's second try on getting a vote on the bill. Last week a quorum of members failed to appear and Democrats charged that Republicans had boycotted the meeting.

The dam would be the second highest in the nation. Engineers have called the site the best one remaining on a major stream.

The administration is opposed to the federal dam, and opponents have predicted freely the measure would be vetoed by President Eisenhower, if it ever clears Congress.

GOP Governors Call for Ike's Renomination

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U)—The nation's Republican governors joined today in praising President Eisenhower's "brilliant leadership" and calling for his renomination.

The resolution, circulated by Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas, was signed by GOP governors attending the annual Governors' Conference.

When Hall made it public, it was signed by 20 of the 21 Republicans now in state governorships. The missing signature was that of Gov. George Craig of Indiana, who is pro-Eisenhower and expected to sign later. He had to leave the conference Monday.

The resolution stuck to the almost unanimous line taken by Republican leaders—that Mr. Eisenhower will be their candidate this year despite the illness which put him in the hospital this month.

Among the GOP governors, however, Gov. William Stratton of Illinois has said that steps should be taken to prepare the party organization for the possibility that Mr. Eisenhower might surprise them and decide to withdraw.

Stratton made clear that he was not expecting any such move but felt that the party should be ready in case the unexpected happens.

E. L. Smith, 67, Junction Resident, Dies

Ernest Lester Smith, 67, resident of Junction RFD, died at 5 a. m. Monday in an Eldorado hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Emma.

The body will remain at the Smith and Edwards funeral home in Ridgway until the funeral Wednesday at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church in Equality. Rev. G. F. Sims will officiate and burial will be in Elmwood cemetery.

About Town And Country

along at his place on South street, and Saturday morning he called me up and told me to come by, the corn was ready.

Sure enough it was, six fresh, tender, juicy ears.

I barbecued a chicken out in the yard Saturday evening. Barbecued chicken and fresh, town-grown roasting ears taste mighty fine.

I THOUGHT I was seeing a new industry in operation Saturday. Stanley Doodler Wilson Jr. led me back through the catacombs of the big Harrisburg Dairy and 'way back in a corner was a new kind of dairy endeavor. There were boats. An' Harry Woolcott Jr. was busy applying what I first thought was paint to one of them.

But he wasn't. It was plastic. It was the same kind of plastic the dairy uses to keep metal from going bad on vats and other equipment. Woolcott and Wilson are painting their boats with the stuff and they say that it does a fine job of waterproofing.

"You can hit it with a hammer and nothing will happen," Wilson said regarding the strength of the plastic.

I GOT A LETTER yesterday from Jack Bailey on official "Queen for a Day" stationery. He also sent a three-minute "hour glass."

"It won't replace the old wrist-watch or the alarm clock," writes Bailey, "but it's great for knowing when to end a three-minute phone call, three minutes of silence or an after-dinner speech."

As it turned out, the three-minute "hour glass" is a plug for his program changing from 30 to 45 minutes in length July 2 on NBC-TV. On that day it will begin at 2 p. m. Harrisburg time.

THE STORY: Jean Cash, a young woman who operates the Rafter C, is in a squeeze between the powerful Frank Norring and her half-brother Emmett Cash. Frank Ude, who rode to Cashtown with Emmett, has chosen sides, against Emmett and Norring, to help Jean.

XVIII
Norrington felt his irritation rake against him as he took in her denim-garbed figure, the dust that discolored her boots.

"I've told you before what I thought of a woman breaking horses. It's not a gentle thing, Jean, I don't like it."

She shrugged. "It doesn't matter whether you do or not."

That pinched his brows. "Fine talk! Fine for the girl who will someday share my life. I don't care to have my wife groveling in the dirt."

"Your wife will have to put up with your dislikes, Steve. I never shall. I'll never be your wife!"

He put out a hand and touched her. She cried sharply. "You can't wear me down the way you and Emmett gentle your horses!"

Her warning was wasted as Norring's arms drew her forward. She pressed both palms flat to his chest, pushing him. Her eyes shocked him with what he read in their depths. For a moment she struck fear into him. His hands released their hold about her.

"I hate you, Steve. You had better not call again."

Frank watched him across the yellow band of lamplight falling across the porch, noting the angry rap his half boots made on the floor planks.

Then Frank caught another impression, this time of Jean moving beneath the cone of lamplight. She was coming toward the door and would probably come onto the porch, not certain how far Norring would choose to carry this.

At that moment Norring threw down his reins and started across the wagon lane.

"I wouldn't," Frank called sharply. "Keep right on with what you were doing. The faster you get off Rafter C grass the better!"

He heard a hot breath rasp through Norring's nostrils. Then the man's words rapped across the ranch yard: "One thing I noticed about you. A crooked nose. Sometime in the past a fellow bent it. A man's habits grow along with him, Ude. This time your interfering is going to lay that nose flat!"

Frank held as much of his raw anger from his voice as possible. "Be sure you pick a better man than Milo Hackett when you try it, Norring. Ride on before I turn Ricketty loose on you!"

He saw Norring throw himself into saddle and knew his thrust had cut. Norring's dark jacket flapped open revealing a white pistol handle shoved into his waistband. He sensed the banker was debating whether to reach after the gun. But he wasn't positive exactly where Frank stood. "Better not be around when Lew Chantry rides up!" He struck with his spurs and his stallion reared. Frank felt sorry for the horse. It was going to suffer for whatever Jean Cash had said.

He stepped thoughtfully toward the porch. Behind him Tod Drury's agreeable chuckle drifted out of a wall of darkness. His reference to Ricketty had made a hit, at least with one member of his crew.

She said quietly, "I don't know you very well, Frank. That's not fair to either of us."

Frank felt the twitching at each edge of his lips. "No, I reckon not. After what Norring told you it'd be hard to trust me."

"Yes, I keep thinking about what Steve told me, and I want your story. But I said this wasn't fair to either of us the way it stands. I mean it that way. Were you with Emmett, when he stole my horses?"

"Afterwards," he said carefully. His gaze searched her slowly. "I

B47 Explodes; Three Killed

SMOKY HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Kan. (U)—A B47 plane exploded and crashed about six miles south of Salina, Kan., early today, killing all three crewmen aboard.

The public information office here said the plane was approaching the base for a landing at the time of the incident. It had been in the air about seven hours on a routine training flight.

The plane struck the ground in a wheat field four miles south of the base and several acres of stubble from recently harvested wheat burned in the resulting fire.

Officers said the base control tower was in radio contact with the plane until a few moments before the crash and that the pilot made no distress call or reports of trouble.

At least 20 other persons were injured.
